

The News-Herald.

OFFICE IN POST-OFFICE BUILDING

DECEMBER 8, 1892

Judge Steel was in Missouri on legal business a part of last week.

Charles J. West left on Tuesday afternoon on a business trip to Chicago.

George Dill, of Chicago, spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. E. Dill.

Mrs. J. M. Boyd, of Mt. Victory, O., is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. Griffith.

Miss Betty Thompson, of New York City, is visiting her friend, Miss Nannie Pagsley.

Mr. Ed. Hawk and Miss Bird Parker were visiting relatives at Ripley a part of last week.

Owen Burns was in "off the road" with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burns, over Sunday.

The beans and belles will exchange places at the leap year ball to be given at Smith's hall Friday night.

Hon. D. Q. Morrow, one of the examiners, is at Columbus attending the examination of applicants for admission to the bar.

Ben Colvin, renowned as "Toothpick Ben" in sporting circles all over the country, has been here on a visit for the past week.

Mrs. McAllister, of Henderson, Ky., who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John Matthews, returned to her home Saturday.

The entertainment and sale given at the M. E. Church last Friday evening was very largely attended, and about $70 were cleared.

Mrs. D. C. Arthur and two children visited her husband, Lieut. D. C. Arthur, at Athens asylum, returning on Monday, November 21st.

Miss Elizabeth Lewis, who was the guest of Miss Etta Hoyt for a week, left on Saturday for Delaware, where she will visit before returning to her home at Elyria.

"Jack" Uhrig, of Salt Lake City, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Uhrig, at this place a few days this week. Jack is now running an engine on the Santa Fe railroad.

Gorton's Gold Band is not a large concern but for effective ensemble work, is said to be the best band of like number in this country. This band is said to be really well worth hearing.

The jury in the Clay township Bible case, in which O. A. Browning & Co. were plaintiffs and John F. Moberly was defendant, last Thursday evening returned a verdict for plaintiff for $801.95.

Rev. W. J. McSurely and others will conduct a meeting at Boyle's school house next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. If the way be clear a Union Christian Endeavor Society will be organized.

The County Commissioners met on Monday, but the session has been an unusually quiet one and no business has been up except the allowance of bills for current expenses and the road petition signed by M. E. Lewis and others.

Remonstrances, kicks, complainings, and threats have had no effect and the gas company's product is as sulphurous as ever. It is time a halt was called on the company and that they be compelled to purify the gas. Hasn't Council any power in the matter?

The beautiful weather stock sale day brought a large number of people to town, but the offerings of horses were small. Sam Leonard bought 8, Dan Flock 5, Higgins 4 and Waul 3, at prices from $50 to $120. The bone alley exhibition was more disgraceful than ever.

A party of B. & O. S. W. R. officials, including President E. R. Bacon, of the B. & O. system; Vice-President W. W. Peabody, sr., Superintendent I. G. Rawns, Pass. Agt. O. P. McCarty and several others, was here on Tuesday on a tour of inspection and viewed the improvements to their property here.

Judge John B. Tally, of Scottsboro, Ala., Circuit Judge for the Northern District of that State, was the guest on Monday of his friend, Capt. George Richards. Their acquaintance was formed during the war, while Capt. Richards was stationed on the Tally plantation, near Scottsboro, and was renewed during Capt. Richards' visit South last fall.

Ola Nunn, a white girl from the vicinity of Samantha, was before Mayor Davis last Thursday on the two charges of assault and battery and using profane language, her grandmother, Mrs. Hughes, being the prosecuting witness. Mrs. Hughes and Ola have lately been in almost constant quarrels on account of the girl's inexplicable propensity to associate with colored boys of the neighborhood, one Oliver Burns being the principal disturbing cause. The assault was not a very serious one, no injury being done, but the girl was bound over in the sum of $200. Burns, the girl's 'crazy' lover, went on her bond.

JACK FOX'S WIFE

Hasn't Bestowed Enough Care and Attention on Him.

Joel J. Fox is the bushy-headed gentleman who, for three or four years past, has made daily flying trips to Highland and intermediate points behind a milk-white steed with the U. S. mail, and occasionally a passenger. Back in January, 1888, Joel united heart and hand with the woman since known as Sallie Fox, and until a year or two ago the couple went serenely on with but few jars to their domestic happiness. Since then, however, Sallie has become lazy and her laziness has made Mr. Fox tired. Last week he filed, through his attorney, H. L. Wiggins, a suit for divorce and proper relief. He says that his wife for a year has been guilty of gross neglect of duty, and, for six months past, of idleness, profligacy and dissipation, and that she has wholly refused to cook, wash or perform any work or devote any care and attention to him.

G. A. R. Camp Fire and Bean Supper.

The G. A. R. Post will hold a Camp Fire and Bean Supper at Armory Hall, Tuesday evening, December 20th. Rev. Wm. Childers, of Kentucky, one of the most eloquent speakers in the country, will be present. He is the old soldier who made the Memorial address here last May and at that time promised to come and speak at a Camp Fire to be held this winter. The price of admission including a good old fashioned bean and hard tack supper will be 25 cents.

A Card.

I wish to announce to my friends and patrons that my connection with the NEWS-HERALD job rooms as lessee has been severed. Thanking you for your liberal patronage in the past, I remain Yours, &c.,

JUD ERVIN.

Misses Madge and Lizzie Kramer will entertain their young friends with a dancing party Thursday evening.

We are not usually advocates of the boycott, but an application of it to the gas company might have some effect.

Economy is a good thing, but it can be carried too far, as the gas company may find if they persist in furnishing half-made gas to their patrons. Business houses all over town are replacing their gas with oil lamps, and the company need not be surprised to see their saving policy resulting in a loss.

The entertainment given by the M. E. Sunday afternoon class and the Golden Links was an unqualified success financially, as they cleared a little over seventy dollars. They expect to use some of their money in sending Santa Claus to the poor children of Hillsboro. Any one knowing of worthy cases please report them.

Not only comfort, but health, demands that some action be taken to compel the gas company to furnish a better article to its consumers. It is absurd to believe that anyone can breathe the poisoned atmosphere of a room where the so-called gas is burned without being injured. If no other body has any power it is surely within the power of the Board of Health to stop the outrage.

The Leeburg Buckeye man seems to be in hard lines. He says in his last issue: The unappreciated Buckeye was not remembered with a well fatted turkey on Thanksgiving, but had to be content with an old hen, which was probably the offspring of the pair Noah had in his boat. This, too, was bought on credit of a friend with a promise to pay next day, thinking some delinquent would surely drop in—it being Thanksgiving—and pay us, but, alas! no one came and we still owe for the old hen.

Dr. Tufts, the reliable and well known optician, is still in Hillsboro at the Clifton House. Our citizens and people from the country are keeping him busy fitting glasses. Dr. Tufts has been fitting glasses for the people of Hillsboro for eighteen years and has established a reputation for skill and reliability. If you don't know him he refers you to any of his many Hillsboro patrons. Call and see him. Consultation free. He will grind proper glasses into your own spectacle frames, thus saving you expense of new frames.

The Council Bluffs Nonpareil, referring to Gorton's Minstrels, which appear at the Armory Saturday night, says: Last evening Gorton's Minstrels played to a fair sized audience at Dohany's. It is a show full of good things and all the performers are artists in the front rank of minstrelsy. The only feature about it that the audience did not like was because the curtain failed to stay up several hours longer. The people would never tire of a performance as good as Gorton's Minstrels, and the music, well, it would be hard to excel by any other band that has ever played before the footlights at Dohany's.

Butler, Hocking boy, has been assigned to work in this office. He hails from Greenfield, Highland county, and formerly held "cases" on a local paper in the above village. He is a bright lad and will make a success of the business. Hughes, formerly of the painting department, was granted his liberty Wednesday morning and returned to his home at Hillsboro, O. This young man has an excellent record and we bespeak for him the success which his past conduct merits and his future deserves.—Boys' Industrial Journal, Lancaster, Ohio.

Guilty of Arson.

Monday in the Common Pleas Court was occupied with the trial of Ed. Massey, who has been in jail since October 5th, under indictment for arson. At eight o'clock in the evening the jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed the value of the property he attempted to destroy at $50. He has not yet been sentenced.

Massey is a former resident of Samantha, but for the last fourteen years has been a wanderer and has lived pretty generally all over the country. He with his mother and brother, who now reside at Indianapolis, are joint owners of a small piece of property in Samantha, and about the first of October Massey went to that place with the intention of looking it up. He had not been in town more than three or four hours before he went to Frank West's grocery, borrowed some matches and tried to burn his own house down. He was arrested and brought here. He claimed on trial that he had been drinking heavily for three weeks prior to his visit to Samantha and remembers nothing at all of his attempt to burn the house, but his remarkably clear memory of all the events just preceding the attempt gave rise to the suspicion in the minds of all who heard him that his memory was not so clouded as he would like to have it appear. Massey bears every imprint of a crook in his features and actions, and his own testimony describing his past life was anything but reassuring as to his innocence of the present charge, although what his motives could have been is not understood. He has served one term in the Ohio Penitentiary for horse stealing, having been sent up from Circleville in 1894 for one year. Before announcing their verdict the jury recommended that the mercy of the court be shown the prisoner. The penalty for the crime he is found guilty of is from one to twenty years in the penitentiary.

Council Meeting.

Council held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night, with all members present. A number of bills were presented and allowed.

The Library Board, through Member Foley, asked Council to authorize them to have new shelving put in at an estimated cost of $150, but lack of funds prevented any action being taken. Messrs. Huggins and Harman appeared on behalf of the same Board to protest against the miserable gas being furnished. A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and ascertain the cost of replacing the gas with electricity.

Judge Thompson asked Council to allow him $10 per month for water that is being used from Jackson spring by citizens. The members couldn't exactly see why they should be called on, as the corporation has nothing to do with the matter, but it was referred to a committee.

The annexation scheme was brought up and the attorneys united in a recommendation that a committee be appointed to decide on a new proposition and the territory to be added under it.

Solicitor Smith stated that the annexation proceedings need not hinder action on water works any longer, and a committee was appointed to consult with the Solicitor and report to Council, at a meeting next Tuesday night, the best steps to be taken toward the much desired end. After an allowance of $100 from the sanitary fund Council adjourned.

MAYOR'S COURT.

Ike Johnson, a worthless young negro, without any occupation or any idea of ever having one, was arrested last Wednesday on a warrant sworn out by Charlie Hughes. The two had got into a quarrel several days before and Johnson drew a knife and tried to make mince meat of Hughes. The latter escaped serious injury, but his clothes were cut in several places. Johnson kept himself under cover for a week, but was finally caught by Officer Huston Wednesday evening. Mayor Davis gave him 30 days in the workhouse, $50 fine and costs. He was taken to Cincinnati Friday.

Peter Fox, E. S. VanMeter and W. P. Binghamon were included in the police force's stock sale harvest of drunks. Each one was required to settle in the sum of $5 and costs.

Mal, alias "Squint," Kittrell, was arrested Sunday and sent to jail to liquidate an old fine, which was remitted on his promise to pay. The authorities concluded that he was too slow in redeeming his promise.

For Dissolution of Partnership.

Amanda B. Glaze, a resident of Marshall township, last week filed her petition for divorce from Benjamin O. Glaze, to whom she was married on New Year's Day, 1890. Glaze has never felt it incumbent on himself to provide any luxuries, or even the necessities, for the support of plaintiff, and has left her to live on her own exertions or the charity of friends. Besides these sins of omission, he has also been guilty of some grave crimes of commission, if his wife's petition states truly. She enters the general charge that he has been in the habit of consorting and associating with women of bad reputation, and specifies particularly one Bertha Plymire and a Miss Miller. She wants to be restored to her maiden name, Amanda B. Nelson. H. M. Huggins is her attorney.

Old Ned's $4 Turkeys.

"Old Ned" Fox, the Salem township man who has several times recently appeared in court in the role of chicken and turkey thief, has come into prominence again, and, if the story told here Monday is correct, he seems to have lost the cunning he has shown on other occasions. One morning last week a gentleman living in the neighborhood of St. Martin's, Brown county, found that some one had entered his turkey coop and taken nineteen survivors of the Thanksgiving season from it. He began a search for a clew to the thieves and found on the floor a fat pocketbook, containing $80, which had been dropped by the thief. The pocketbook also contained several papers with Ned Fox's name prominent on them. So far no claimant has appeared for the money, and the parties from whom the turkeys were stolen will not prosecute, as they are satisfied with $4 apiece for them.

Tuesday Evening's Treat.

A brilliant and enthusiastic audience assembled at the Court House on Tuesday evening to listen and do honor to Hillsboro's peerless orator, the Hon. D. Woodson Williams, who, after much solicitation, had consented to deliver one of his famous lectures, the especial subject chosen being "The Past and the Future." Mr. Williams, who has acquired a national and international reputation as an eloquent and forceful speaker and logician, is a man of magnificent stage presence, which his color only makes the more impressive, and his appearance on the platform was the signal for tumultuous applause. His every movement, gesture and action indicates the orator; in his most magnificent climaxes he seems not to exert himself and he seems to have a reserve power, which, if exerted, would carry the hearers to a height heretofore deemed impossible. No sorrow so deep, no joy so exultant, no shade of feeling but that his wonderful facial expression and gifts of word painting can portray it. Mr. Williams has for years been in correspondence with and has known intimately many of the great men of the country, and his fund of anecdotes seems inexhaustible, while, from his associations, he has gathered all that is good in their ideas, and, with his matchless logic, combined them into a system of philosophy and economy, which, if adopted by our governments, would speedily solve the perplexing difficulties constantly arising.

His manner of presenting his subject was so clear, lucid and entertaining; his striking illustrations so pertinent; and his points so well taken that he was often compelled to stop to await the subsiding of the tremendous applause. He is bound by no party, creed or doctrine beyond the word "Right" and unprejudiced people of all parties delight to honor him for having the courage of his convictions. It is hoped sincerely that if Mr. Williams' life is spared and time allows that our people will have another opportunity of hearing him. Hon. H. D. Davis acted as chairman of the meeting in place of Mr. A. Ellsworth Hough, of the Gazette, who was expected to preside, Dr. W. W. Shepherd as Vice Chairman, and W. H. Walker as Secretary. Among other prominent persons who occupied seats within the railing were Hon. John S. Jolly, Hon. Joe Miller, Hon. Jas. Lyle, Capt. G. E. Richards, Hon. Isaiah McConaughy and Judge J. Frank Wilson, of Greenfield.

Graves Robbed.

The trial of Clint Graves, a good-looking colored man from Greenfield, on a charge of highway robbery, began in court on Tuesday and is still going on. The offense was committed on the night of October 27th, when J. H. Johnson, a nurseryman, of Moon's P. O., was held up by a man near the cemetery in Greenfield and robbed of a pocketbook containing $52. Johnson jumped out of his buggy and chased the fellow but could not catch him. He does not identify the prisoner, but says that his assailant was about the same sized man as Graves, and he also thinks his voice resembles that of the robber. The most damaging thing in connection with Graves' case is the fact that on the night of the robbery he told Peck Turner that he had done the job. Irwin & Wilson are defending Graves.
